Message from the President

Kyriacos Poupoutsis
- President

Dear Colleagues and Friends,
It is a real privilege for me to be entrusted by the CIDESCO Members to become the new President of CIDESCO for the next four years- the major international organization in Beauty Therapy with 62 years history and with a tremendous role in the development of Beauty Therapy Education and in the establishment of the Beauty Therapy profession world wide.

No effort will be spared for hard work and proper management of the organization and together with my fellow colleagues in the Board we shall try our utmost for the best interest of CIDESCO and its Members.

CIDESCO Education has been exemplary- over 200 CIDESCO Accredited Schools, international examinations, examiners from all over the world and now almost 5000 CIDESCO graduates per year are awarded with the CIDESCO Diploma- the most prestigious international qualification in Beauty Therapy.

International Congresses and Exhibitions are organised every year in different countries, hosted by member Sections and a truly International Board is elected every four years for the management of the organization. The 57th CIDESCO World Congress and Exhibition in Baden-Baden, Germany has been exceptional and a big thank you to the Hosting Section, CIDESCO Section Germany - Mr and Mrs Sterz, Dr Niejahr and their team who deserved to be applauded for a well organized event. Thank you to all those members and delegates who attended the Congress, as well as to the sponsors and exhibitors who believe in the value and the future of the professional beauty therapist and their participation has positively contributed to the success of the congress. Also to the speakers, who lectured and shared their knowledge and presented valuable information to the delegates. The General Assembly 2008 elected a new Board for a term of four years: Re-elected Board Members: Kyriacos Poupoutsis (Cyprus), as President (previously served two terms as Treasurer), Anna-Cari Gund (Sweden), as Vice President, Ronelle Iten (Switzerland), as General Secretary and Josephine Wackett (Great Britain), as Board Member for Education.

Elected new Board Members: Ken Kume (Japan), as Treasurer and Elise Wessels (Netherlands), as Board Member for Public Relations (Honorary Member and previously served two terms as Board Member for Education).

I would like to congratulate all the Board Members for their election and for their willingness to invest time and effort to support CIDESCO and to wish them every success in their duties and responsibilities. Would like to also thank our retiring President Helene Bramwell and retiring Public Relations Board Member Dianne Miles, for their work and commitment for CIDESCO over the past years.

The General Assembly declared Helene Bramwell, as Honorary President of CIDESCO for her long dedication and commitment to CIDESCO- sincere congratulations! Special thanks with our appreciation for hard work also goes to our Secretariat, the "backbone" of CIDESCO: Anne Maestrini, Gerard Gordon, Sandra Ghezzi, Graziella Colacicco, Maria Vajdova. I pay tribute to all past Presidents and Board Members for their valuable contribution towards making CIDESCO a world leader in Beauty Therapy and a special thank you to Honorary President Ursula van Deelen for her constant support and dedication to CIDESCO. Also, to the Education Committee for their valuable work and to our examiners -the CIDESCO ambassadors- who are responsible for upholding the CIDESCO standards worldwide.

Thank you to Dr Martin Ammann, completing 20 years of cooperation, for keeping CIDESCO safe from Trademark problems and other issues world wide and of course to all our Members (Sections, Schools, Beauty Centers) around the world for their support and commitment. I must admit that during my 20 year involvement with CIDESCO, have always felt that CIDESCO provides much more-beyond the professional involvement- CIDESCO provides a feeling of support and friendship amongst its members that make everyone feel as a part of a big family'. It is so precious for anyone of us to have a CIDESCO colleague, a CIDESCO friend in so many countries of the world!

As you probably know the 58th CIDESCO World Congress and Exhibition will take place in Kyoto, Japan in September 2009, hosted by CIDESCO Section Japan. Pamela Adkins, President of the Section promises to be a truly memorable event with a very stimulating program as well as a social program that will satisfy all delegates. Please remember to timely make your planning for Kyoto!

Yours Sincerely,
Kyriacos Poupoutsis President

Beauty Technology Education

Kristin Schaefer Centofanti

Lecturer in Electrotherapy

Research & Development for Ultra Scientific Instruments Ltd UK

Following on from my two Seminars at the CIDESCO World Congress in Baden Baden in July it seems useful to provide a general round up of the topics covered and some issues that were raised during the Congress. As I have specialised in research and development of electrical therapeutic effects, been instrumental in developing new products for over 30 years and also been part of the team that pioneered the very first stimulators world wide¹, I have seen enormous changes in the Health and Beauty industry.

From simple "on/off" faradic stimulators and galvanic devices to hugely complex computer controlled apparatus which can personalise treatments for any corporal or facial need, at the touch of the button, the world of electrotherapy has certainly been radically transformed in the last half century.

New Developments in Biostimulation

"Electrical activity is intrinsic to all living processes and all biological tissue exhibits some form of electrical reaction... Cells and tissues respond to a wide range of externally applied electrical and magnetic energies."²

When we read this quote we generally think that this information has been known for a long time and that it seems to state the obvious. Yet both the concept of bioelectricity and the research into biochemical electrical impulses and their effects on the human body are very new indeed. Perhaps this apparent contradiction - something new that seems old - also summarises how the beauty and health industry views electrical stimulation. Therapists, avid for ever more ground breaking technology, are often not aware of the importance of perfecting the technology we already have.

Electrical therapy, under the guise of faradism, interferential, galvanic etc., has been with us for a long time and as a consequence we tend to see it as old hat. We may walk by a system that uses electrode pads or conductive wands, shrugging our shoulders and mentally dismissing it thinking: "Oh yes, that's just an electrical stimulation system... Now where is that new Electroporation machine everyone is talking about?" Of course electroporation is simply the perfecting of a stimulation impulse to penetrate active ingredients into the skin quickly and non invasively. This example shows us that we need to extend our understanding of electrical stimulation and its new technologies so that both teachers and students alike are well informed and, above all, able to correctly apply this enormously advanced, versatile, safe and super effective therapeutic tool.

Demystifying the technical jargon

In order to apply new and old technologies we need to understand the key concepts and words that are commonly used and also to differentiate between marketing vocabulary and scientific vocabulary. The following list illustrates some of the concepts that are commonly used in the health and beauty market and in many cases creation some confusion if their meaning is not fully understood.

At the CIDESCO World Congress in Baden Baden I discussed in depth the meaning of these various concepts and a CD was given out to all attending examiners and heads of CIDESCO Schools so that students and teachers could have a round up of this terminology and be able to teach it in a coherent and easily accessible fashion. The exciting part of these seminars is the sharing of expertise. As many top professionals are assembled at every CIDESCO International congress, scientific and therapeutic experts were able to contribute their knowledge and understanding in the questions and answers section. This means that every year this presentation can be updated and perfected, with a world wide consensus, ensuring excellence of content and presentation. In the update of the CD made available to schools, I will be able to incorporate the new information received, so I urge all CIDESCO therapeutic, medical and scientific experts in the field to forward information they feel will be useful in the context of education related to electrical stimulation.

Biostimulation - the new buzz word

The first thing we need to address is the vocabulary we use. A word may be scientifically correct but can conjure up such a negative, old fashioned or unfriendly feeling that customers and therapists shy away from it immediately.

Take for example "Electrotherapy". As soon as we see or hear it we think of a possible electrocution, zap, shock, jolt. None of these concepts are likely to help sell the treatment or reassure the potential customer. Yet we know that most of the equipment on the market is safer than talking on a mobile phone and can also provide tremendous health benefits too. It stands to reason therefore that the first thing we need to address is the words themselves, making them more appealing and user friendly.

This is where Biostimulation comes in. First it sounds new - an essential element in this demanding fast paced market - second it sounds organic and moves away from the dreaded electric, third it is TRUE! For many, many years now we have been producing impulses that are so similar to the natural biological impulses emitted by the body, that these signals bear no resemblance whatsoever to an electrical current issuing from a wall socket.

In fact, many advanced Biostimulation systems do not use normal mains power but can be operated totally independently, without being plugged in. They give hours of safe, trouble free Biostimulation as they produce their own finely tuned signals. A rechargeable battery assures a steady, secure source of energy.

Biostimulation can also incorporate many diverse applications of electrical stimulation and give far better results than the single therapies of faradic, galvanic, microcurrent, Russian, interferential etc..

The Health & Beauty benefits of Biostimulation

As we know, a potential customer is more likely to come in for treatments for a specific beauty need. Facial anti ageing, lifting, body contouring, slimming and anti cellulite are generally the highest in demand and a quick fix with minimum time and effort has the most market appeal. The beauty of Biostimulation is that not only can it achieve the instant results that draw customers to a centre, it also can maintain these results and improve health and fitness with toning, circulation improvement, detox and fitness Programs. A customer will come to a health and beauty centre for cosmetic and beauty treatments but they will only remain as long term clients if they feel that these treatments are actually "good for them". The good news about Biostimulation is that it can do both and it is essential that teachers and students are aware of all these benefits when studying the subject.

Obituary

Hubert Lam

We were deeply saddened to hear about the sudden death of Hubert Lam on 1st August.

This has come as a shock to us as we were all last together at the CIDESCO World Congress in Baden-Baden in mid July. Hubert was a doctor of Oriental Medicine (OMD), acupuncturist, drugless practitioner, medical esthetician, massage therapist and aromatherapist, was originally from Trinidad and attended medical school in China. He immigrated to Toronto in 1974 and opened a massage therapy and skin care clinic as a drugless practitioner specializing in acupuncture and herbal therapy.

Hubert was a prominent figure within CIDESCO and along with his wife Pat always worked hard for his beloved Canadian CIDESCO Section. Hubert was also one of the people who were integral in introducing the CIDESCO Multiple Choice Exam for the CIDESCO Diploma of Beauty Therapy. Hubert had a wonderful determination and was also gifted with a great sense of humour. We admired Hubert who was never shy from giving his valued opinion on all sorts of issues that affected all of us within the CIDESCO organisation.

For many, many years Hubert has been well known globally in the world of Beauty and SPA Therapy especially in the electro technology field and we extend our heartfelt sympathy to his beloved wife Pat, his daughter Lara and all his family at this very sad time. Hubert Lam will be sorely missed by all of us in CIDESCO.

CIDESCO International

I would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone who sent condolences to me from the Cidesco family around the world. They indicated about how much they care about me and my beloved husband, Hubert Lam. Although the pain remains deep and constant, I am striving to be stronger every day and my daughter, Lara is working with me to carry on his amazing legacy. As the President of Cidesco Canada, he will never be forgotten for his contribution to Cidesco International and the wonderful industry we work in. THANKS FOR CARING."

LES NOUVELLES ESTHETIQUES SOUTH AFRICAN SPA AWARDS 2008

The Spa Ambassador Award, symbolises a person who represents the industry, in a thank less capacity. The award goes to a person who has made the industry proud and whose presence in the industry is noted internationally. The Spa Ambassador Award 2008 was awarded to Helene Bramwell, President of CIDESCO (2000 – 2008). CIDESCO congratulates our Honorary President, Helene Bramwell on this prestigious award.

Retiring CIDESCO President Helene Weber-Bramwell is now CIDESCO Honorary President.

Helene has devoted endless time and energy into her role as President and we have seen an extraordinary development for CIDESCO under her leadership. Helene inspires us all and we are grateful to have had the privilege to have such a reputable and devoted President for the past 8 years.

Helene was presented with a Certificate and the official Medal was awarded to her at the CIDESCO Gala Dinner in Baden-Baden, Germany. The award and medal was presented by CIDESCO Vice President, Anna-Cari Gund.

Mrs. Windiyati Nugroho of Indonesia, Principal of two CIDESCO schools, Pacific International Beauty Institutes in Indonesia, one in Jakarta and the other in Surabaya is photographed receiving an award from the Vice President of Indonesia for her contribution and effort to improve SPA and Aesthetic education in Indonesia.

CIDESCO 57th World Congress & Exhibition

We like to take this opportunity to congratulate Section Germany for hosting the successful 57th CIDESCO Congress and Exhibition in Baden-Baden and also our appreciation to the Mayor of Baden-Baden for his support and his best wishes for our 57th World Congress and Exhibition.

A very special thanks to CIDESCO Section Germany President Ms. Brigitte Sterz and Mr Bernard Sterz and their hardworking committee for organising this dynamic and fabulous event. Our Education meetings were very well attended by Examiners, School owners and tutors and our special guest speakers Kristen Centofanti and Jaelyn Hughes presented us all with inspiring talks and information.

The social events in Baden-Baden were outstanding from the welcome cocktail party, the great fun German night and last but not least, the elegant Gala dinner in the beautiful Casino of Baden-Baden. The success of this Congress and Exhibition was due in a large part to the hardworking and informative speakers and lecturers who gave so much to the well attended lecture programs.

To all the Sponsors we say a big thank you for making this such a successful Congress and Exhibition and deservedly the sponsors were presented with a Plaque at the Gala Dinner to thank them for their wonderful support. The all important CIDESCO General Assembly was well attended by some 30 countries. As it was an election year, CIDESCO now has a new Board and it is as follows:

Kyriacos Poupoutsis – (Cyprus) President
Anna-Cari Gund – (Sweden) Vice-President
Ken Kume – (Japan) Treasurer
Ronelle Iten – (Switzerland) General Secretary
Josephine Wackett – (Great Britain) Board member for Education
Elise Wessels – (The Netherlands) Board member for Public Relations

We would like to pay a very special tribute to Helene Weber- Bramwell and Dianne Miles who now have retired from the Board after 8 years serving CIDESCO.

Helene has devoted endless time and energy into her role as President and we have seen an extraordinary development for CIDESCO under her leadership. Helene inspires us all and we are grateful to have had the privilege to have such a reputable and devoted President for the past 8 years. Helene has now become a CIDESCO Honorary President.

Dianne Miles has handled the demanding portfolio as Board Member for Public Relations with enthusiasm and devotion.

Dianne has done a remarkable job marketing CIDESCO and now with the new CIDESCO DVD her legacy will be appreciated for some time to come.

Dianne was also responsible for the introduction and handling of the CIDESCO SPA Diploma programme which continues to grow and goes from strength to strength.

We wish them good luck in their future endeavors.

From 12th – 14th September 2009 the 58th CIDESCO World Congress and Exhibition is to be held in Kyoto, Japan. We look forward to seeing you all there.

58th CIDESCO WORLD CONGRESS

Harmonising with skin & environment

9th—14th September 2009

Kyoto, Japan

Kyoto

On behalf of CIDESCO Section Nippon, I would like to extend a very warm welcome to Kyoto for the 58th CIDESCO World Congress.

Japan last hosted a CIDESCO World Congress in Tokyo, 1980, it was a memorable experience for all those who took part.

This time, Kyoto is our venue; it is the cultural centre of Japan. As the former capital it has plentiful shrines and temples which will enable you to experience Japanese history and culture. Japanese cuisine is world-renowned. Please try some of our wonderful local restaurants serving both local and international food.

Japanese public transport systems are well known to be fast, efficient and clean. It's easy to get around Kyoto as its organised on a grid like system. Japan is no longer expensive so you can enjoy yourself and buy some locally made items. Please add a few days if you can to enjoy our wonderful country.

Our theme is: Harmonising with skin and the environment. With this in mind and in reflection of the Kyoto Protocol, we trust that all who attend will be stimulated to think about the environment as therapists and general public.

Our speakers come from a variety of backgrounds. They will be demonstrating new techniques; giving you the newest technical information on research and development in the Beauty Profession as well as business related sessions to help you enhance your business.

Our CIDESCO Section Board and Members look forward to being your hosts in Kyoto, 2009,

Pamela Adkins
Chairman of the Board,

Dear Colleagues,

It has been an honour, pleasure and a privilege for 8 years as the CIDESCO Board Member for Public Relations to be able to present to all of you the news of CIDESCO in this Link magazine.

I have also enjoyed meeting many of you whether it has been when I have been examining for CIDESCO in your area or at our annual CIDESCO World Congress.

Before I retired from this portfolio I wanted to take this opportunity to say thank you to all of you who have contributed in many ways over the past eight years by sending me photos and articles for the Link or just by reading the Link.

I say goodbye to you until the next CIDESCO World Congress in Kyoto in September 2009 where I hope we will all meet again, and now I introduce you to Elise Wessels, your new CIDESCO Board Member for Public Relations.

By still sending in any information to CIDESCO it keeps the pulse of CIDESCO going and this information can be added to the magazine.

Warmest wishes,
Dianne Miles
